

Engineers, Said And Done

In theory we're the same
No great shame
Though we're poles apart

From here to here knows when
Can't understand
Why you think this way

Stood firm and took the strain
Of every day
With the same old chores

Obsessive with the way
That you play
And it goes on and on

So something has to change
As we grow bolder
Someone's got to live
By what's been said and done

We all know that you'll change
When they say
It's been the perfect choice

Is the risk worth all the pain
That your name's
Important after all

Disagree but never say
That my aims
Were the same as yours

In theory we're the same
No great shame
Though we're poles apart

So something has to change
As we grow bolder
Someone's got to live
By what's been said and done

So something has to change
As we grow bolder
Someone's got to live
By what's been said and done