

Enter The Haggis, Life For Love

No man
No man is an island
Way out on the water
All alone to stand

But I am
Tired of the dry land
Ready for a new shore
Ready to expand

You seem
Happy with your daydreams
Happy to just stand there
Rooted to the sand

But all along I know
I had selfish motives
Everybody knows
That you can't live
And give your life for love...
Your life for love

Arms stretched
To catch the next horizon
A line to keep your eyes on
And I'm inclined to stare

But you close
Your eyes and wish for rainbows
Any way the wind blows
You will find me there

You pull
Your coat around your shoulders
You don't know what I know
Wind is only air

But all along I know
I had selfish motives
You never fail unless you fail to try
And live your life for love
Your life for love
Life for love...
