

Erasure, How Can I Say

Downtown i'm homeward bound the city lights are looking bright tonight No love lost between us when i see you things are looking up and though it's cold, inside I'm warm devoid of worries, no love is forlorn

CHORUS

how can i say what must remain unspoken
Don't want to spoil all that we said before
So many cry baby hearts to be broken
Don't want to join in with their crazy wars

You tease, I try to please Though i know I'm not looking my best tonight Hard pressed, you've had the rest Of all the choices, time to make your mind up and though you smile, you're sad inside but do not worry 'cause i'll make it right

how can i say what must remain unspoken
Don't want to spoil all that we said before
So many cry baby hearts to be broken
Don't want to join in with their crazy wars