

Eric Clapton, How Could We Know (feat. Judith Hill)

Look at me
Suddenly I'm as sad as can be, lonely
Look at you
Even blue eyes can turn deeper blue, so blue

How could we know where this love would go
Faith is a word that means love will grow
Now we've found out
That it isn't always so

Look at us
Something changed and it turned all our dreams to dust
And we lost
All the joy that we had just like gold to rust

How could we know where this love would go
Faith is a word that means love will grow
Now we've found out, that it isn't always so
How could we know, that it isn't always so

Nobody's to blame
Nothing's gonna change
The way the river flows
The way she flows
People learn to love again
When they learn to just let go

How could we know where this love would go
Faith is a word that means love will grow
Now we've found out, that it isn't always so
How could we know, that it isn't always so

Look at time
It can heal you and help you to find new hope
One sweet night
We might find the love we search for
The love we own

How could we know where this love would go
Faith is a word that means love will grow
Love breaks your heart, but it isn't always so
If we don't try again, how will we ever know
