

Eric Johnson, Alone With You

Everyday

I'm alone with you

You know that's the only way I get high

My load is light when you shine on through to me

My soul you touch by and by

So all I want is to leave you something

That you always remember your life through

My soul you touch when I'm here with you you know that today you're gonna see

What I say is true

It's just every little thing you do and I feel that we could touch the sky

Yes every little thing you do

and you know what I say is true

My soul you help to shine on through what you do you do

What you do you do when you do yeah

It's just every little thing you do

And you know what I say is true

My soul you help to shine on through

Oh by and by, touch the sky, by and by

By and by, touch the sky, by and by