

Eric Mantel, True Home

Close my eyes there I see you in my mind.
Across the stars, the moon, the sun is where you are.
All these lives I've lived before have passed my by.
And in the end there you'll be my only friend.

And he said follow the light it will take you away from here.
Listen to the sound it will lift you away from here, true home.

In the dark I fight this war soul and mind.
And when I see you there you'll be my shining light.
And he said follow the light it will take you away from here.
Listen to the sound it will lift you away from here.

Follow the light it will take you away from here.
Listen to the sound it will lift you away from here, true home