Erin McCarley, Sleep Walking

Turn the corner, too familiar Turn around into your past Ohh

You hide and seek the same addiction, Hope you find the better one of the last Ohh

Youre sleepwalking through your big bed of lies Wish on up your new star every night - Oh yeah

I see youre at it again, sittin on your hands Waitin around for the wind to change direction - Oh yeah

There you go again

Stuck in your head, havin a ball in youre fully optimistic way

So off with your masquerade

Mmmm

All the people look so happy, safe beneath their plastic skin - Ohh Get a rise from anothers tragedy, but tip-toe so nobody can get in - Ohh Youre sweet-talking through youre big bed of lies

Wish on up your new star every night - oh yeah

I see youre at it again, sittin on your hands

Waitin around for the wind to change direction - Ohh

There you go again

Stuck in your head, havin a ball in youre fully optimistic way

Oh, doubt in you, you suffocate in your feather sleep

You twist inside your hollow eyes when the mirror speaks

I see youre at it again, sittin on your hands

Waitin around for the wind to change direction - Oh yeah yeah yeah

There you go again

Stuck in your head, havin ball in youre fully optimistic way - yeah

I see youre at it again, sittin on your hands

Waitin around for the wind to change direction - Ohh

There you go again

Stuck in your head, havin a ball in youre fully optimistic way

So off with your masquerade