

Ernest Tubb, I'll Never Tell You That I Love You

I'll never tell you I love you I'll never say that I do
I'll never tell you I love you but still you know that I do
Sitting all alone in the moonlight feeling so lonesome and blue
Soft breeze is there in the moonlight brings back sweet mem'ries of you [steel]
I know that you found a new love that's very easy to see
Someone is getting your true love but still I know it's not me
I wonder if you'd be forgiving if you knew that soon I would go
If I can't have you while I'm living I'd be better off down below
I'll never tell you I love you I'll never say that I do
I'll never tell you I love you but still you know that I do
