

Esmee Denters, Memories Turn To Dust

I can feel your arms around me
Have you forgotten who I am
Because your reflection still surrounds me
All the moments that we've shared
Sometimes I just sit and wonder
Can believe we've let it come this far
And erase it back, what could have been
But your already gone
I can still see your face
I can hear the way you tell me not to rush
Seems like yesterday
Now it's so hard to trust
When memory's turn to dust
I can't get rid of this strange feeling
Feels like your right here by my side
My heart is broken, never healing
I could just throw away our time
We we're so close
That I just cant let go
Always together
Now I'm standing here alone
I can still see your face
I can hear the way you tell me not to rush
Seems like yesterday
Now it's so hard to trust
When memory's turn to dust
I can still see your face
I can hear the way you tell me not to rush
Seems like yesterday
Now it's so hard to trust
When memory's turn to dust
I can still see your face
I can hear the way you tell me not to rush
It seems like yesterday
Now it's so hard to trust
When memory turn to dust
