

Etta James, Jump into my fire

Hes got eyes that burn
Straight to my soul.
Supernatural touch,
That makes my blood boil.
Hes a four-alarm lover,
Sent from I dont know.
Furnace door open,
Thunder crashes.
My fever rises,
Lightning flashes.
He comes in the night.
Hes gone, in a cloud of smoke.
I said, jump into my fire.
Walk right into the flame.
I've got some red hot lovin'
Cookin' in my oven.
If you can stand
The heat in this place.
I told him, jump into my fire.
Run right into the flames.
Just keep your hands to yourself.
Dont be sweet-talkin no one else.
After lovin me,
Your heart will never be the same.
[Solo]
He said, woman, if you want my love.

You have to show, what youre made of.
Dont come on to me,
If you can't pay the price all night.
Hold on honey, wait a minute.
Dont be so rough, now wait.
See Im woman enough,
To handle your stuff,
Any hour, night or day.
I said, jump into my fire.
Walk right into the flame.
I've got some red hot lovin'
Cookin' in my oven.
If you can stand
The heat in this place.
I told him, jump into my fire.
Run right into the flames.
Just keep your hands to yourself.
Dont be sweet-talkin no one else.
After lovin me,
Your heart will never be the same.
