Eurythmics, Fade Away

Everything you are you've been once before
Everything you hear you've heard it once or more
Everything you see you've seen it all before
Everything you dream leads to that open door
Don't wait so long
Turn the key before you fade away
Don't wait so long
Turn the key before you fade away
Everyone you love you could have loved them more
Everyone you touch you could touch to the core
Every time you wait it's not worth waiting for Everyone you lost you better find them all
Don't wait so long
Find them all before they fade away
Don't wait so long

Find them all before they fade away
I know you live in isolation
So you don't have to pretend
That you could live alone forever
And be your own best friend
Here comes the writing on the wall
And it looks so strange
Like a primitive sign
Don't you ever feel that you're so small
Like a grain of sand in a bottle or wine
Don't wait so long
You know I'll always love you
Don't wait so long
You know I'll always love you
