

evan and jaron, And Then She Says

I call her up at midnight say I'm feeling scared boy you've got to let it go I tell her what we've got is so right can it last out there in this world you never know then I close my eyes and I wait imagining what she might say here comes your goodbye and then she says
she believes in dreaming
and then she says
she talks to the stars
and then she says
she can see forever from where we are I see myself in her eyes and my mind plays games what if this all comes apart everyone around me turning promises to pain history loves a broken heart then I see a smile on her face and I wonder how long will it stay true romance has died
[Chorus]
then I think of all the lonely people all thinking about why they're the ones that live without
true romance has died
[Chorus]
