Evanescence, The last song I'm wasting on you

Sparkling grey They're my own veins

Any more than a whisper Any sudden movement of my heart And I know I know I'll have to watch them pass away

Just get through this day

Give up your way You could be anything Give up my way And lose myself

Not today That's too much guilt to pay

Sickened in the sun You dare tell me you love me But you held me down and screamed you wanted me to die Honey you know You know I'd never hurt you that way

You're just so pretty in your pain

Give up my way And I could be anything I'll make my own way Without your senseless Hate Hate

Hate

So run
Run
And hate me
If it feels good
I can't hear your screams anymore

You lied to me
But I'm older now
And I'm not buying baby

Demanding my response Don't bother breaking the door down I found my way out

And you'll never hurt me again
