

Even Song, Awakening

Mother Earth awaken my sleeping world open the gates to an unknown land I spread my tired wings and fly away and leave behind the weakness of man

Thousand of screams echoe behind but without fear I touch the sky Lady of all my sleepless nights We'll meet beyond the clouds

Now I step unto an other world into the garden of silent oblivion The tortured memories slowly fade as I taste the serpent's poisoned lips