

Everclear, Static

I got a girl in sault ste. marie
Takes a bus every weekend just to come across the miles to me
Leaves her room in the shadow of the bridge
To spend two days life blind in my dirty bed
Doesn't asks questions, never talks down
About the things I do when she isn't around

Yeah I just about live in the bars around town
I lose myself in the voice of the crowd
Each and every day I need static
I don't wanna go home alone

I know a girl just outside of lacrosse
She meets me in milwaukee when the weather gets humid and hot
She leaves her husband and retarded baby girl
Just to walk for a while unencumbered in an easier world
No questions, never asks why
I walk the floor in the middle of the night and stare
Out the window of an ugly motel

At the neon signs outside
Think about the hell I sell
To make my static
I don't wanna go home, I don't wanna go home
I don't wanna go home alone...

Just to spend two days life blind in my dirty bed
Doesn't asks questions, never talks down
About the life I lead when she isn't around
Yeah, I just about live in the bars around town
Lose myself in the voice of the crowd
Walk around stupid and blind and proud
Each and every day I need static
I don't wanna go home alone...
I don't wanna go home
