EverGreen, A Couple Of Curled Up Pictures

A couple of curled up pictures were in his hands now, i like faces, i like pictures it was a question that rang inside his head so loud it was a question that rang inside head why would you even ask, why would you even ask behind the building you could stare at the window and you would see them there.