Its always the simple, worthless things that hurt me This unfinished conversation is pointless Words are too clumsy, they just get in the way
I love you but I can't show it, this feeling hurts
Im not used to saying Darling*
But now I can say it, for you
If youre by my side, smiling to me that's enough I dont need anything else
Everything began when I met you
There are days when we hurt each other
I used to feel I want to be with you but I don't know where we'll be tomorrow

With all my might, overreaching myself I tried to pretend all was cool a couldn't afford it, and yet again I ended faking a smile
The nights I cant see you, loneliness attacks
Because I love you, I get anxious, that feeling is sad
When you said Ill look after you that time it was with hesitation, it was not a lie

But I want to keep trusting in this feeling
I want to hug you as if it hasn't fallen apart

This way, this way I came to love you Really, really I'm very happy
Even if, for example, we break up later
I'm never going to stop holding your hand tightly
Everything began when I met you
There are days when we hurt each other
I used to feel I want to be with you but
I don't know where we'll be tomorrow
