

Everything Everything, Jennifer

Jennifer is on her way home
Then she remembers her life is like a nightmare
Walking in circles and wasting her time
Pretty soon she will be crying in the kitchen

Cos she got no way to get out

Jennifer nearly jumped into the water
And she was tired like no-one's ever been tired

Cos she got no way to get out

Cos the pain in the end
Is all in your memory
Try it again
Try it another way

Then she got into the back of that car
And she went headlong into that whispering wall

Cos she got no way to get out

Cos the pain in the end
Is all in your memory
Try it again
Try it another way

Under the Spitfire
On the hook by the light
Can you toss me the keys now I
Hear Raymond outside
He's gonna open the front door
And then we'll attack
We'll put his head in the dustbin
And drive into the black

Cos I can't Get out
I've got no way to get out

Cos the pain in the end
Is all in your memory
Try it again
Try it another way
