

Eydie Gorme, Winter Night

The snow came down, covered all the town, that winter night
The wind was cold, yet our hearts were bold, that winter night
While walking home our noses turned from red to blue
So who can blame me if for warmth I clung to you?

We kissed alone, frozen to the bone, that winter night
But when your lips met mine for the very first time, they tasted right
Deep in the drifting snow, I felt your glow melting all my lonely fears
As we fell in love on the best winter night in years

"Instrumental break"

While walking home our noses turned from red to blue
So who can blame me if for warmth I clung to you?

We kissed alone, frozen to the bone, that winter night
But when your lips met mine for the very first time, they tasted right
Deep in the drifting snow, I felt your glow melting all my lonely fears
As we fell in love on that winter night
I love the way you held me tight
We fell in love on the best winter night in years
