Face To Face, Wolf In Sheep's Clothing

You've got your reputation I've got anonymity I've got my self-respect You can't take that from me

You've got to protect your interests You've got your enemies I've got a hundred reasons To expose your treachery

There is no happy ending Only what remains to be

I want an explanation I want an apology You ruined everything You tried to run away but you can't I want to hear the answer

I want the opportunity You wasted so much time You tried to run away but you can't

You had your way of speaking I was full of naivete We had a common interest And a trust based on a need I've got my own ideas I've got my integrity You've got your binding contracts You've got your misery

Your power and position Your hunger and your greed Walk on the backs of others Toward the goals you will achieve
