

Face Tomorrow, Are You Sure i am braking all my rules and promises by feeling what i'm thinking forcing myself to be in control of what i'm saying when i'm drinking and now there is time to stop and read all the smaller parts within me and if your mouth was saying words in braille would you be scared to feel them for real are you sure if this is what you mean 'couse if its not you're reaching in between i know it's hard to change it but you really should break through i know it's hard to say but important that you do people will respect some one who dares to speak his mind if not then live your live with the ones who stayed behind break though find out wat you want to say

run through make sure when you talk to me be ware take care of your internal words speak out what's in before they start to burn speak out what's in