

Factory 81, Cheese Wheel

I can see I'm not free.
I believe in no one but me.
All eyes on me.
Pointing at me.
Falling you see.
Your words deceive.

CHORUS:

I say what I want to say.
Doesn't matter what you think' cause I still live this way
& then you come into my life.
Stick me in the back with your knife
& now as I look at you all these things that you would put me through
I won't let you look away.

Won't you fuckin' watch me bleed?

I can see I'm not free.

I believe in one but me.

Now you take a look at your life for a while
& you see yourself, you're just like a child.
Preach about things you've seen.
Ignoring all the things that you're supposed to see.

While you watch your watch as time wastes away
& you feel the need to feed on others' pain.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' lied.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' tried.

You're just a slave.

Now you take a look at your life once again
& you see the fuckers supposed to be your friends.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' tried.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' lied.

Now you sell your soul.

You sell your life away.

You sign your name.

You even sell your pain.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' tried.

Brag about the things but you fuckin' lied.

CHORUS:

I say what I want to say.

Doesn't matter what you think, what you got & all that you do to me.

All these things that I could never see & now as I walk away.

All these things I could never say I won't let you look away.

Won't you fuckin' watch me bleed?

You're a slave,

weak inside you're a slave,

feeding you mind you're a slave,

selling your pain you're a slave,

signing your name you're a slave,

open your doors you're a slave,

weak inside you're a slave

feeding your mind you're a slave.

CHORUS