

Fair Haven, Anything

There is a silver of silver moon shining down on you I see your teardrop and I'm soaked right trough This thorn draws the blood from the heart that beats for you You are the star that paints my black sky blu I'd do anything for the love I feel for you Your laughter soaring in the wind conquers mountains in my mind Your reflection sails the waters up my river as it winds As the ovean swalloes the sun you are the only only light that shines
As I feel your body tremble
I breath you deep inside
