

Fair Skies, Running Back To You

Awaken from the dream I had
But is it okay to open my eyes
Or to feel empty inside?
Tied down to the ground
Don't know if I can turn this around
Now all my dreams are gone
But the nightmare's just begun...

I will run from the things I've done
If I return one day
I know what you'll say
But I...
I won't be running back to you

I won't be running back to you...

I've been on the move to find hope
I've been on the move to stay afloat
Much of me is gone
Left me... Alone in the dark
As it falls apart

I will run from the things I've done
If I return one day
I know what you'll say
But I...
I won't be running back to you

Now those days
They seem so far away
But the thought of you
Reignites the flame

Time crushed our love to dust
And I think I finally had enough

I will run...

But I won't be running back to you...
