Faith Hill, Who I Am

From " Mad About You" Soundtrack

(Tom Hemby/Amy Grant)

Might scare me to death

Or chill my bones

Break my heart

Or warm my soul

But since I'm here and before I go

I'm gonna find out who I am

Late one cold Thanksgiving night

They welcomed me, another 60's child

To a family that's holding tight

That's part of who I am, yeah

I got a mama who prays for me

She fights the devil down on her knees

I can't see all that mama sees

But it's part of who I am

She gave me truth and she watched me grow

I told her lines and I test the rope

Then I tried a little bit of everything I know

Just to find out who I am

Who I am

Does it matter anyway

Who I am

What I've seen along the way

Who I am

Changes a little everyday

With a lot of truth

And an open heart

I just want half a chance

As long as I'm here and before I go

Just to find out who I am

Music is my soul's delight

Comes to me both day and night

It gives me wings and it gives me flight

And it's part of who I am

I hold onto a simple faith

About the choices and the path I take

That through the good and the bad mistakes

I'm gonna find out, yeah

Who I am

Does it matter anyway

Who I am

What I've lost along the way

Who I am

It changes a little everyday

With a lot of truth

And an open heart

As long as I'm here and before I go

Just to find out

Did it ever really matter

In that big forever plan

Who I am and what I'm here for I don't know

Is it wrong to want an answer

Try to understand

Who I am

Does it matter anyway

Who I am

What I've learned along the way

Who I am

It changes a little everyday

With a lot of truth

And an open heart

As long as I'm here and before I go Just to find out Who I am Who I am
