

Fame Factory, Only Lord (Elin Hedberg)

Only Lord

Text och Musik: Elin Hedberg

I'm Stuck with a feeling
That nothing is quite what it seems
And everything is one big game
And all the friendships are the same

I know it takes some time
To Learn how to love yourself
A lesson that you learn for life:
Never hesitate

I pretend that I can feel it
Tell myself that I believe it
But nothing in my head
Seems to be real, Seems to be true

Only Lord can tell me why
When everything is going down
Why I'm tearing up myself
Just to be like someone else
And the feeling deep inside
And all the voices in the background
Didn't belong, belong to me

What if it's happens
What if I knew all that I never knew
I wondering of what I did
With the life I was supposed to live

I know I must be confused
Even if I'm pushed aside
I keep on thinking that hope is bigger than the rage.
That I'm bright

This is a matter, matter of winning
Or to always be on top
But sometimes it's important to know
Who you are

Only Lord can tell me why
When everything is going down
Why I'm tearing up myself
Just to be like someone else
And the feeling deep inside
And all the voices in the background
Didn't belong

Everything I believed in
Turned to be my confusion
I should be there by nine
Or staying where I am
Love will never find me
As long as I keep searching
Life will never go on
If I can't move

Only Lord can tell me why
When everything is going down
Why I'm tearing up myself
Just to be like someone else
And the feeling deep inside

And all the voices in the background

And all the voices in the background
Didn't belong, belong to me