

Fang, With Girls Like You

Well I thought you were cool, I trusted you
Now I feel like a fool for believing you
We hung around wasted my time
Then you put me down, I don't know why
With friends like you who needs enemies
We met at a party, you showed me some new tricks
I thought you were worth knowing
Now you've got me into this fix
Then I brought you home, told you all my secrets
Then the next thing I know
You told me the world now who regrets
I guess you wanted more than grief
You ripped me off big bucks
Now that you're gone big relief
