

Farm Chalk, Lie On Lie

any town
any day
the separation's real and i find it is based on nothing passed from father to son mothers to their girls

and i fall once again from my own ideals and i fight back the fear of something that i don't understand but learned when i was young and i know that it's strange i know that it's strange and i think it will take us more than legislation i think it will take us more than filling graves and i say that you can not force appreciation lie on lie

i will not run away from the battle now if it seems that's the way i'm fighting i will just pass away the pieces of my life
'cause i know that it's right, i know that it's right and i think it will take us more than legislation i think it will take us more than filling graves and i say that you can not force appreciation

lie on lie
