

Farmer's Boys, I Built The World

There's some familiar faces among the born again
A new innocence is there for the taking
I'm moving over for someone to come
I now he'll be here soon

I built my world around you
Cos ever since I've found you
I made a world for you to hold
I built my world around you
The one that now surrounds you
And with these hands I built the world

So where's the silver lining the one you said there'd be
In all of the clouds that hover above me?
I'm looking forward to a better day
I know it will come soon

I built my world around you
Cos ever since I've found you
I made a world for you hold
I built my world around you
The one that now surrounds you
And with these hands I built the world
World...

I'm looking forward to a better day
I know it will come soon

I built my world around you
Cos ever since I've found you
I made a world for you to hold
I built my world around you
The one that now surrounds you
And with these hands I built the world
I built the world
