

Fat Amy, In The Middle

(R.J. Johnson/Guiney/Meyers)

A makeshift mirror frames the tortured space She's got porcelain violet angels hanging around her waist and she's caught up in the middle of everything The steam pours off the coast as she steals the night it's the worthwhile gleam of the innocence mission that lights the sky as she's caught up in the middle of everything
.. So we'll bring it to fruition for the never believers she's picking up just one piece of the problem at a time and wearing violet wings when she really needs them...
It's easier when the porcelain, lays on the wings of the decadent angels and saves your skin she's caught up in the middle of everything and wears violet wings when she really needs them if its cold and damp, you don't need to care... it's always been the end, that she's leaving there its in the middle of everything
..So we'll bring it to fruition for the never believers
she's picking up just one piece of the problem at a time and wearing violet wings hen she really needs them she's got the violet wings and.. I really need them.
