

Fates Warning, Giant's Lore (Heart Of Winter)

In a time long past tomorrow sleeping in the castle of the black. In the Leland hills are the monster tracks of a giant. The dawn of autumn playing in the garden of the rising sun the children they run in the yard of the giant. If he awakens he will crush them in the earth, fear the children inherited at birth.

Thunder clouds close the skys he opened up his eyes he's awakened hears the children in his paradise
You must leave this land forever more or live behind these iron doors o the darkest dungeon
So they left with the passing storm The Gods were awakened they will crush him in the earth. He is forsaken till he shares his worth.

Kings queens pirate giants castle walls dungeon doors Bound to earth treasures sunken heart to the ocean floor I will remember knocking on the cold side of your door Spring came soon to the outside world but the worth wind whirled through the castle halls Children played in the outside sun, frost giants stayed in the garden walls. Seasons past locked in winter filled with remorse his frost bitten heart

Through a crack in the garden wall came a child with the gift of spring the frost giants went away
the dawn of autumn came into the garden of the rising sun his heart was awakened he was forgiven then
Always remembered as a giant among men.
