

FFH, I'm Not Afraid To Love You

If I let You get Your hands on my heart,
I knew there'd be changes You would want to make.
It frightened me to let down my guard.
'Cause I knew how easily a heart can break.
But the fear has started fading as I've begun to see,
There's beauty You're creating,
And You knew what's best for me.

So I am not afraid to love You anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love You, my Lord.
I trust Your plans, they are perfect like I'll be when You're through.
So I am not afraid to love You.

Well, it hurts as You're remolding my dreams.
And as You're reshaping all my attitudes.
It's hard to bear, but every change means,
That little by little, I am more like You.
So I embrace Your vision 'cause,
When I see what You've done,
I can't deny Your wisdom, or how far I've come.

So I am not afraid to love You anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love You, my Lord.
I trust Your plans, they are perfect like I'll be when You're through.
So I am not afraid to love You.

I'll let You create, and I'll let You reshape,
And I will give You all that's mine.
I don't understand, I know You'll hold my hand.
So Lord, go ahead and take Your time.

'Cause I am not afraid to love You anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love You, my Lord.
I trust Your plans, they are perfect like I'll be when You're through.
So I am not afraid to love You.

No, I am not afraid to love You anymore.
No, I am not afraid to love You, my Lord.
I trust Your plans, they are perfect like I'll be when You're through.
So I am not afraid to love You.
