

Finding Westerly, Neverending

So listen up, its how the story goes.. you take what you can get than leave it You give your all, just to be shot back down, appreciation isn't much these days

When nights are long, you cant help but notice, the cards that have been dealt has been replaced again You go by day,and base decisions on the past, but as the answer shows the song remains the same.... Don't tell me

This is a never-ending,this is a no-way-out
This is the bottom line for where we lie today

So where do I go,now that all's been lost should I bounce back or lie down bleeding Cause no one knows,and will never understand, that I am stuck here with scars inside my mind

This is a never-ending, this is a no-way-out
This is the bottom line for where we lie today

This is a never-ending,this is a no-way-out
This is the bottom line for where we lie today