

Finger Eleven, Other Light

Never tell your friends
They'll never understand
Confessions only for themselves in the fire
Chok on every word
That no ones ever heard
Your Sentamental thoughts are strangled and tired

See it in another light
You'll see it working out alright
I know I won't change any mind
As long as there still changing mine

The simpleness of it
Telling you again
What they're thinking could be so unbecomeing
But you don't have to take
Remember your mistakes
You'll always see it as a fall as your running

See it in another light
You see it working out alright
I know I won't change any mind
As long as you're changing mine

See it in another light
You see it working out alright
You know I won't change any mind
As long as you're still changing mine
