

First Degree, Someone

Somewhere in this world
There must be a place
Somewhere in this world
There's someone to show your face
Everyone can go and tell him what he feels Though he is not Jesus he knows what you need

I don't know if he's black or white
Or the one you bring to bed all night
But there's someone you should tell your heart
And he will be the one to make you start

Somewhere in this world
must be this long white beard
Something he can tell us we had never heard
Though he is not able to do one own step
He could make you go the right way on your map
