

Fitzgerald Patrik, We Seemed So Suited

I was in love once
It wasn't important
We had our share of smiles
And sunny days
We seemed so suited
We seemed so incredibly alike
No one could touch us.

I was in love once
I vaguely remember
It wasn't so long ago
A few short moments
Since we were alone
In the dark of a room
In the heat of the summer
Making plans for today
What shall we do?
Making plans for today
What shall we do?

I was in love once
I still can remember
Your face on the pillow
All covered with tears
We seemed so suited
We seemed so incredibly alike
No one could touch us
Making plans for today
What shall we do?
Making plans for tomorrow.
