

Five for Fighting, The last great America

Mr. Merry cries in his coffin For days he says he can remember And through the town the pallbearers