

Flangers, Unleash Me To Myself

I'm making up with someone else
My head is gone for someone else
I should have know, for someone else

I don't belong to were I am
My feet are numb, so I can't walk
And now those things are killing me

Drowning down my head I know you're good
Drowning yesterday, I know you're good

Now I'm aware to what I'll do
Lock myself up, swallow my tears
Serpented thoughts are gone away

I'm falling down on to the ground
Spreading my limbs against the floor
Wait till my thirst is gone away

Follow myself where it goes
Cause nothing can unleash me to myself