

Flashlight Brown, I'm A Human

staying in, fading fast call some friends, have a laugh about the things we used to think were coming stories same, nothing fits get in late, call it quits just as my paranoia comes to feed me

i'm a human just like you full of doubt without a clue try and find a way to make it better get a call from the girl she's in town, but i'm a bore, so it won't make a difference call me next time

lazy days, empty nights i'm alone, but that's alright, i'm taking over this world on my own time

i'm a human just like you
full of doubt without a clue
trying to find a way to make it better

i'm a curse and so are you not so rich and not too smooth help me find a way to make it better staying in, going mad made a choice, won't look back its just another day, and i'm still breathing

i'm a human just like you
full of doubt without a clue
try and find a way to make it better

i'm a curse and so are you
not so rich and not too smooth try find a way to make it better

trying to find a way to make it better
help me find a way to make it better