Fleet Foxes, Drops In The River

Crown of leaves, high in the window on a gold morning Young today, old as a railroad tomorrow Days are just drops in the river to be lost always Only you

Years ago, birds of a feather would arrive nightly Gone you know, held to another like clutched ivy On the shore, speak to the ocean and receive silence Only you

Here as the caves of my memory fade, I'll hold to the first one I wouldn't turn to another you say, on the long night we've made Let it go

Speak to me slow my dear, no ghost of course in here, pleased to be lonesome quiet and clear, all is alone in here.
