

Foch Tsuki, The game

To happen maybe once
That you will go away from here alone
And all men will be
Still there
Where you be bore and you
And whole world will destroy how
Stamped out small grain
What it lasts despite adversity of fates continually
Ref.

You see now, that someone
It is every day there
And it does not claim, that this all can finish how game
Though this is game, because rule and there are participants
Every new man
Already since first day
It has to begin in her to play, because this such is already principle
And you will not smash her, you will not smash her, because such is still Because such is still
Pack in suitcase all things
And remembrance which from always have
Because they will not disappear, though you would want this
And they will not disturb to go away you
Because it would be better even
He you about this if would earlier said
Ref.

You see now, that someone
It is every day there
And it does not claim, that this all can finish how game
Though this is game, because rule and there are participants
Every new man
Already since first day
It has to begin in her to play, because this such is already principle
And you will not smash her, you will not smash her, because she is such Because she is such
You see now, that someone
It is every day there
And it does not claim, that this all can finish how game
Though this is game, because rule and there are participants (x2)
Ref.

You see now, that someone
It is every day there
And it does not claim, that this all can finish how game
Though this is game, because rule and there are participants
Every new man
Already since first day
It has to begin in her to play, because this such is already principle
And you will not smash her, you will not smash her, because she is such Because if you will get lost alone...