

Fold Zandura, My Last Joy

i speak your name
when i cannot see your eyes vanishing again
into ever changing skies

i have always loved
only you and nothing's changed and you have always known and the answer is still the same
just like before
you're welcome

anytime, anytime

everywhere you are
if we're breathing the same air you could never be so far that i could not meet you there
just like before
Ill take you

every time, every time

i have always loved only you and nothing's.....

and what is more
i've loved you

all this time, all this time
...all this time