

For All Those Sleeping, 2182

tonight is the night we become great the stars will show us the way tonight is the night we become great
the stars are what gave us away all hands on deck this is urgent this struggle has just begun the ocean air chills to the bones the sea offers no mercy

it's so much harder to breathe when every breath screams your name the waves they pull me underneath not every wave is the same death can't reach me if I believe if i, yes I believe
now take a breath and fall asleep

tonight is the night we become great
the stars are what gave us away

we're going down we've done all that we can we are buried beneath the waves i can now only blame myself what more could i ask

do you believe your faults can be forgiven
did you live your life based on regret inhale the salt
that surrounds you
i'm silently screaming while i am underneath now fall asleep

it's so much harder to breathe
when every breath screams your name
the waves they pull me underneath
not every wave is the same
death can't reach me if I believe
if i, yes I believe
now take a breath and fall asleep