

Forever Changed, The Disconnect

So this is where it ends.
Two strangers make amends.
I've been angry for too long.
We leave this world behind.
Two bodies will resign.
Wishful thinking takes us far.
It's all right we will now be okay.
Why don't you just say the words and we can leave this place.
Cause I see the look in your eyes...looking from inside.
And I see the look in your eyes...ready to move forward.
The sting of life begins.
Two strangers find a friend.
I've been lonely for too long.
We've waiting all these years; the hour is finally here.
Open doors have come our way.
It's all right we will now be okay.
Why don't you just say the words and we will leave this place.
Cause I see the look in your eyes...looking from inside.
And I see the look in your eyes...ready to move forward.
Say the words and say you'll leave.
Just say you'll come away with me.