

Forever Changed, The Last Time

The severed plan has failed us once again.
The seeds of fear have grown too deep.
Our sinking ship will never sail again.
With promises so high to keep.

This time we have to take the chance.
Though everyone has turned away.
Ambition will see us through.

I need you, I can't lose you now.
There's one thing you got to let me know...

Are you changing, are you changing your mind?
Because I'm telling you now for the last time.

We've tried so hard to make this on our own.
I've learned that we are far too weak.
And in times like these let's keep our eyes above.
Frustration makes it hard to see.

This time we have to find our way,
Bitterness is creeping in.
I feel it, let's stop it now.

Are you changing, are you changing your mind?
Because I'm telling you now for the last time.

Don't worry about a thing.
Stay with me, don't leave me now.

Are you changing, are you changing your mind?
Because I'm telling you now for the last time