

Freddie Hart, Sugar Woman

The honey from this woman's lips drives me to the breaking point falling for her
A woman who can love a starving man and yet come falling back for more
She satisfies my many wants and needs it's happened more than once or twice
And the honey from her lips has got me craving for the better things in life
Sugar sweet sweet sugar woman it's like a taste of sweet sweet red wine
She can make this love within my heart much warmer
My sugar sweet sweet sugar woman

The darkened shadows of the night catch us holding our embrace till morning light
At break of dawn she'll find me on my way but I'll be back again tonight
She's been this we command to where she's in my dreams almost every night
This tempting kind of woman's got me craving for the sweeter things in life
Sugar sweet sweet sugar woman...
