

Freestyle, Jealous

jealous

nina

jealous of the girl who caught your eye one of my darker days when you look at her where was i should have been in her place here i am all alone imagining what might have been, could have been if had been there jealous of the one whose arms are around you if she's keeping you satisfied jealous of the one who finally found you made your sun and your stars collide la la la la she's a very, very lucky girl jealous of the girl who won your heart they say it's a perfect match she's gonna get to be where you are and it don't get better than that she'll say you're fine whisper words i wish were mine and they might have been could have been
if had been there
and you know i'd fight the good fight if i thought i'd changed your mind but if she makes you happy then i'll leave the dream behind man, she better treat you right and give you everything cause the moment that she doesn't i'll be waiting in the wings