

Fucked Up, Hidden World

I see a point and a mountain;

I am a drop and a lake.

I am a speck and a beast;

I cause a quiver, a quake,
look close and you will find a place
where small is large.

In different space the rhythm that the world
sustains unfolds and then unfolds again.

I saw a tree inside a seed, phi the sky and shells
and hives a sky alight a secret world alive.

Invisible leaders, invisible laws of two sides;
we take none and turn the third way
through the wall a thousand times.

In a thousandth time a million eyes see the scions rise a billion sons.

Apogee begun a trillion hidden lives,
perihelion colored lines and scented signs
lead us between what we combine afreet.

I see the world with clarity hidden world

seen by the third eye, the opulence of a clear blue sky.

Heaven's been kind enough to grant us entrance to this enchanted land.