

Fuel, King For A Day

Bled the line tonight
fading as the lies
lie weeping on the page
nothing was saved
falling at the sight
photographs of white
bright grin and sunny days and all was betrayed
and i think i know
the reason that your light would never stay
and all that's left to show
are memories now but i can truly say
i was king for a day

and i think i know
the reason that your light would never stay
and all that's left to show
are memories now but i can truly say
i was king for a day

and i think i know
the reason that your light would never stay
and all that's left to show
are memories now but i can truly say
i was king for a day