

Funker Vogt, Nothing New

Look at the all the politicians everyone is telling lies they always make promises which never will be fulfilled you can look to the left you can look to the right in the end there's no difference who has got the power

changing the point of view
promising a better nation
this is nothing new
just a cosmetic alteration always in search of skeletons to hide their own faults there is no more time left to do their real work

try to avoiding radicals they are so narrow-minded they only fight for their aim don't take care for other things

changing the point of view
promising a better nation
this is nothing new
just a cosmetic alteration